HIV AND RYAN WHITE FLORIDA

HIV IN FLORIDA, BY THE NUMBERS¹

106,585: the number of Floridians living with diagnosed HIV/AIDS in 2015.

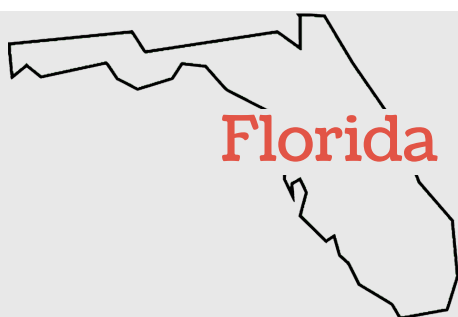

78.3% of newly diagnosed individuals in 2016 were male.

2nd in the nation: for HIV related death rates in 2015.

52.6% of individuals diagnosed in 2016 were between age 25 and 44.

DEPENDS ON RYAN WHITE:²

- An estimated 56,677 Floridians received services through Ryan White in 2015.
- 62.1% were living at or below the poverty line.
- Since Ryan White is legally required to be the "payer of last resort," these people did not have other access to medical or support services.

Federal Ryan White Funding in FL³

Part A: $76.13M

Part B: $120.79M

Part C: $10.02M

Part D: $7.76M

Part F: $1.20M

Florida received $215.9 million in federal Ryan White funds in 2017:⁴

- $88.2 million went to ADAP.
- $76.13 million went to Tampa, West Palm Beach, Orlando, Miami, Jacksonville and Fort Lauderdale, the state's only cities eligible for Part A funding for urban areas. As a result, Part B funding (for states) is particularly important in Florida.

RYAN WHITE WORKS!

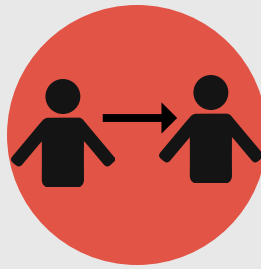

Ryan White services keep HIV-positive individuals in treatment and care

With treatment, people with HIV can live active, healthy lives.

People whose virus is suppressed for 6 months cannot transmit HIV through sex.

But, if disconnected from care, resistance to medications can develop making it easier to transmit HIV. Moreover, without treatment HIV is deadly.⁵

RYAN WHITE PROVIDES SERVICES ACROSS THE HIV CARE CONTINUUM

HIV CARE CONTINUUM:

THE SERIES OF STEPS A PERSON WITH HIV TAKES FROM INITIAL DIAGNOSIS THROUGH THEIR SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT WITH HIV MEDICATION

While only 58% of people nationwide have a viral load that is effectively suppressed as of 2014,⁶ 84.9% of HIV-positive clients who had received at least one Ryan White funded medical care visit have achieved viral suppression.⁷

WITHOUT MEDICAID EXPANSION, FLORIDA RELIES ON RYAN WHITE MORE THAN OTHER STATES.

17,881 Ryan White program clients living with HIV in Florida had no insurance coverage other than Ryan White in 2015.⁸

No other program provides the same set of gap-filling services or care as Ryan White. Even after health reform, Ryan White remains crucial for Florida.
